

College of Arts & Sciences

Anthropology

anthro.as.uky.edu

WHAT CAN AN ANTHROPOLOGY MAJOR DO FOR YOU?

A major in anthropology at UK offers opportunities to learn about the diverse people of today's world, as well as about their biological and cultural origins. This area of study deals with ecology, society, biology, culture, language and other aspects of human life. In addition, anthropologists study history and evolution in both a cultural and biological framework.

ANTHROPOLOGY MAJORS ARE ABLE TO:

- Understand social relationships, cultural frameworks and ethnic groups
- Explain biological, ecological and cultural factors that influence human behavior
- Have a theoretical and practical approach for improving cross-cultural understanding
- Demonstrate skills in social research, qualitative interviewing and fieldwork
- Express knowledge of human evolution and genetics
- Write descriptive reports and analytical papers
- Analyze social issues and work to fix them

ANTHROPOLOGY MAJORS GO ON TO BECOME:

- Archaeologists
- Forensic Scientists
- Medical researchers
- Foreign Service Officers
- Human Resource Managers
- Museum Curators
- Behavioral Scientists
- Demographic Researchers
- Political Consultants
- Development Project Managers/Assessors
- Cross-cultural Communication Consultants
- Community Organizers

To learn more about majoring in Anthropology contact Dr. Richard Jeffries at asrecruiting@uky.edu or visit anthropology.as.uky.edu.